A PLACE TO LIVE, LOVE AND WORK

Kilcarbery Grange is in prime position for those who want to be close to some of Ireland's biggest employers. Located beside the development, Grange Castle Business Park is home to Google, Microsoft, Aryzta, Takeda, Interxion, Pfizer and Grifols, among other big companies; Pfizer alone has over 1,200 workers at their facility. The area between Grange Castle and CityWest has been identified as a key area for future economic development; particularly for emergent biopharma and data centre clusters. Kilcarbery Grange is close to the proposed new Grange Castle Media Park, which, when completed, will create 1,800 direct jobs and a similar number of ancillary jobs.

Kilcarbery Grange is located within easy reach of a number of schools and sports clubs of Clondalkin, Lucan and Tallaght, but many more facilities will be built within the development itself. Plans for the new community include a new civic square, a community building, a creche, a new local retail space and plenty of green space.

A highly connected new community

While Kilcarbery Grange is packed full of local employment, schools, shops and other amenities, getting to anywhere you want in Dublin and beyond is incredibly easy. The main entrance to Kilcarbery Grange opens to the Outer Ring Road, the R136, which links to the M7, M4 and M50 in minutes. From there, residents have easy access to Dublin City Centre, Dublin Airport and all the main routes from Dublin to the rest of the country.

Commuters have a range of fast and frequent public transport options too. These include rail connections to Dublin and elsewhere via Clondalkin/Fontill, Adamstown and soon to be opened Kishoge train station, and the LUAS red line tram service via the Red Cow stop. Excellent park and ride facilities are available at both of these options. For those who prefer the bus, numerous Dublin Bus routes serve the area, including the 13, 51, 68 and the 151 routes. There are also plans for Kilcarbery Grange to have its own QBC and cycle path in the near future. The daily commute could not be shorter or easier in this convenient location.
